

SUMMARY

I am a motivated college freshman attending the University of Nevada, Reno currently completing the Pre Business requirements with intent to major in Business marketing. I am a reliable individual looking to obtain real world experience through a seasonal position. Throughout my various volunteer opportunities, I have gained various skills including strong communication, interpersonal skills, organization, and customer service. I hope to take these skills and apply it towards helping the company maintain positive customer experiences while also improving my skills to fit a professional environment.
